Commander of the 1st Group is Cadet Capt. Glen Gowen, while Cadet Capt. Kenneth Kremers commands the 2nd Group. Commanding the 3rd Group is Cadet Capt. Bill Clark, and Cadet Capt. Robert Biegel heads the Administrative Group.

Appointed as Wing Sergeant Major is Cadet T/Sgt. Marilyn Fratt. Cadet S/Sgt. Martin Blacker is Public Relations NCO.

Ouampi Says . . .

With everything getting off to a fresh start this fall the Gateway has some wishes.

First, let's get Coach Lloyd Cardwell's football team off to a winning start with a big crowd tomorrow for the first game.

Second, let's do the same thing each week 'til the season ends.

KWOU To Audition Announcers Today

"Accident List," a series of taped documentary radio broadcasts presented in co-operation with the Omaha Safety Council, will be KWOU's radio feature this fall.

The University's tape recorder, manned by student announcers, will be taken to the scene of industrial, traffic and home accidents. Personnel working with the program will be permitted to ride on the city Rescue Squad units.

Auditions for announcers' positions for the series will be held today from 10 a. m. until noon and from 1 to 1:30 p. m. Jack Katz will be student co-ordinator for the series and will direct the auditions.

Other members of the KWOU staff will also be selected at today's auditions. Harold Winslow will serve as program director.

Alumni Secretary Resigns Exec Post

The resignation of John Adams, alumni executive secretary, was announced this week. Effective Oct. 1, Adams' resignation has been accepted by University President Milo Bail and Alumni Association President Edgar Howe.

Adams has made no choice of another job but said he has "several irons in the fire." A replacement for the alumni post has not yet been announced.

McMillan Tops Staff of 'New' '52 Gateway

Ellis Steps in As Adviser to Paper

New faces dominate the Gateway this fall . . . both on the printed pages and behind the scenes.

The changes on the printed pages are easily seen at a glance: the new typography, new nameplate and a larger format.

Behind the scenes is a new staff, headed by editor Burt McMillan, and a new faculty adviser, Clifford Ellis.

McMillan heads a staff of 17, with Joanne Larkin assisting him as managing editor. Editors of the pages are Frank Schuchart, sports, Marty Blacker, feature, and Lorie Lemen, society.

Lee Nelson and Bob Peck will assist Blacker on the feature page, while Janet Anderson will serve as assistant society editor. Charlie Rice will help Schuchart on the sports page.

Joyce Erdkamp and Bob Rasmussen, news editors, will supervise the news writing desk. On the copy desk are Mary Ann Conley, Roger Orr, Gordon Morpew and Bill Beindorff. Beindorff will double as photography editor.

Taking care of the finances is Bob Benecke. Assisting him on the business staff is Bill McVicker.

Chi O Will Offer $25 Scholarship

The Zeta-Delta Chapter of Chi Omega will offer the annual Social Science Award this year. The $25 award is presented to a university woman who shows outstanding work in the social science field. All University women are eligible for the award. The Dean of Students selects the recipient.

Payne Will Conduct Radio Talks In East

Dr. Wilfred Payne, professor of philosophy and chairman of humanities, has been invited to Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York, to be a critic and lecturer for a series of educational radio broadcasts.

Payne will make thirteen five-minute introductions to lectures on the subject, "Great Ideas of Western Man," to be included in the half-hour programs. They will be tape recorded in Omaha for use in New York.

Regents Elect Vogel Prexy for This Year

The University of Omaha Board of Regents elected new officers during the summer.

President of the board is W. Dean Vogel, vice-president of the U. S. National Bank. George Pardee of the Metropolitan Utilities District, is the new vice-president, while Mrs. A. C. R. Swenson serves as secretary.

William R. King, of King and Hagert, has been re-elected attorney for the board. Miss Alice Smith, university registrar, is assistant secretary, while Charles Hoff, vice-president for university business management, is financial secretary.

Miss Lord Conducts Fourth TV Classroom

A survey of contemporary adult literature is the university's fourth TV Classroom series on KMTV. The course, "Contemporary Books for Adults," started Monday.

Miss Ellen Lord, university librarian and instructor of the course, discusses fiction and non-fiction of modern American and English writers, noting basic themes in twentieth century literature.

Presented through the College of Adult Education, TV Classroom is the first educational television program in the Midwest through which the viewer may earn full college credit. The seven-week class is offered at 10:45 to 11 a. m. each week-day through Oct. 31.

New Faculty Members . . .

Faculty Lists 23 New Members

The new school term brings many new names to the Omaha University faculty list. The administration has named 23 staff additions and replacements.

Heading the list of new personnel is Dr. Jay B. MacGregor, Dean of Student Personnel, and professor of education. MacGregor comes to the university from Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Ia., where he was dean of the college. Former athletic coach Don Pflasterer has been promoted to assistant dean of student personnel.

In the College of Applied Arts and Sciences, Clifford Ellis is assistant professor of journalism and head of the department of journalism. Mrs. Helen E. Jones has been appointed home economics instructor.

The College of Arts and Sciences has added seven new instructors to its staff. Richard Brewer is assistant professor of music and Dr. Robert Bereuffy, is associate professor of chemistry. Instructor of bacteriology and biology is R. J. Trankle. John Macrae is assistant director of testing and guidance and assistant professor of psychology. Macrae is graduate of Iowa State College.

Other faculty additions include Dr. Guenter Schmalz, assistant professor of language, who will teach German and French, Max Burchard, instructor of sociology, and Robert Harwick, instructor of English.

The Education College has appointed James Porterfield as assistant professor of education. Porterfield is superintendent of the Nebraska State Department of Public Instruction. Mary Lou Niebling is instructor for Women's Physical Education.

Roy W. Nolte has been named counselor in the College of Adult Education and assistant professor in the college.

John W. Lucas has moved from the Dean of Students office to a newly-created position as Dean of the College of Business Administration. Rex V. Call has been appointed assistant professor in the Bus Ad College.

With increased AF-ROTC enrollment, five staff members have been added to the military personnel. They are Lt. Col. John E. Asp, Maj. John J. Burnett, Sgt. Alfred Buckner, Sgt. E. N. Quist and Sgt. John Young.

John E. Forsberg has been named chief accountant in the business office. Forsberg comes to the university from Hastings College, where he had been assistant business manager.

OU Students Win Awards

Twenty-eight students have been granted university scholarships and awards for the school year.

Holding University Honor scholarships in the College of Arts and Sciences are seniors Marilyn Cowger and Marlene Gatz, juniors Fannie Ciculla and Frederic Homan and sophomores Patricia Propst, Frank Ross, Susan Bivin and Roger Dunbier.

In the College of Applied Arts and Sciences students with Honor scholarships are senior Burton McMillan, junior Maxine Thedens and sophomores Paul Cherling, Joanne Rentschler and John Stemple.

In the College of Education senior Dixie Ann Clark, juniors Laura Dopita and Hannah Scheuermann and sophomores Delores Gerdes and Robert Rice hold Honor scholarships.

Awarded scholarships in the College of Business Administration are senior Hugo Kahn, juniors Joan Haven and Claus Heyden and sophomore John Jeter.

Holders of the George B. Lake memorial awards in American history are sophomore Roger Dunbier and Mrs. Marian Miles.

Awarded senior real estate awards are Harold Novak, the Nebraska-Iowa Chapter of the Institute of Real Estate management award; Donald Braun, Nebraska Chapter of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers award; Joseph Kirshenbaum, the Omaha Real Estate Board award, and Douglas Alford, the Nebraska Real Estate Association Scholarship for the first semester.

Library Removes Shroud of Secrecy

By Marty Blacker

The mask is off!!!

For the first time in the history of reading, a library is about to reveal its ingredients for success. You have been told repeatedly by other libraries to use their product and enjoy their services, but have they told you what goes into those services to bring you that product? Never!

Now, the Omaha University library will publish their secret to their thousands of satisfied customers . . .

1. The library uses only the most interesting, absorbing, fascinatingly different literature available. To wit: Biographies from the Saga of Billy the Kid to Benjamin Franklin, fiction from Thorn Smith's Three Bagger to Dostoevsky's Short Novels. For sports enthusiasts who hunger for the adventures of the athletes there's books on football, boxing, skiing, et alia. The library shelves also hold periodicals from the New Yorker to Popular Mechanics.
2. The finest library personnel—ready and willing to help students with any kind of reading problems. These librarians are fully packed with an especially secret but amazingly evident ingredient—geniality. This most important quality comes in many forms . . . courtesy and a smile.

From the student helpers to Frank Gibson, associate librarian, and Ellen Lord, librarian, they are eager to stamp your cards, answer your questions, and make your search for good books pleasant and fruitful. This library staff has been time tested in a reputable laboratory and have proven their good quality.

3. All reading matter comes wrapped in a well-equipped library and browsing rooms such as the Fore Memorial room in the east wing of the third floor.

This lounge is especially appointed to guard against any unpleasant after-effects. It sports a comfortably collegiate atmosphere complete with deep upholstered couches and arm chairs.

Starting with its grand opening this Monday the Fore room will be open every day, Monday through Friday from 12:30 to 5:00 and evenings Monday through Thursday from 5:30 to 7:00.

Now you know the truth . . . Now is the time for action! If you want reading advice . . . if you want to supplement your courses with outside reading . . . or if you're just interested in good books, go to our University library . . . and do it Today!

Some People Do Work, But Some OU Students . . .

By Lee Nelson

"I hate work!"

No matter where people inhabit this sphere from the steppes of Afghanistan to the unexplored wilderness of the Mato Grosso, these words have molded history.

Whether you worked in a cemetery like Don Whitehead or as a life guard like Wayne Wagner, there are always humorous anecdotes to spice a usually boring undertaking.

Whoa, There. On one particular day, the boys along with the conductor of the affair had 15 minutes to beat the "City of Denver" to a passing track.

Catastrophe! The "City" was ten minutes early so a lowly weed burner halted the crack streamliner literally in its tracks.

"Assistant Manager, Peony Park," was the title handed to Bob Darrah, who had his share of amusing experiences.

Carried Away

There was the night when a certain character tried to get past the gate with liquor. That in itself is not so outrageous but this guy didn't settle for one bottle but rather a case of 12.

Not so humorous as astonishing was the night when Bob sat for two hours with Perry Como and nary a soul recognized the great singer until he was introduced to the crowd by the bandleader.

Charlie Simpson reported that he didn't do anything except "tighten the nuts on Almond Joys." Next year, though, he's got a job picking fly specks out of pepper on the condition he doesn't make a mistake.

Head life guard Dick McCord was having a fit at Peony Park on a hot Sunday afternoon with the usual full house on hand.

See Ya There

Noticing about eight boys pushing sweet young things off the dock in a rough-house manner, Dick ordered them to stop via his megaphone . . . the pushing continued with even more vigor.

With his temper frayed to a razor's edge, he dashed into the water to break up the strong arm tactics.

When he arrived it was too late to realize that the whole group was deaf and dumb.

My boss says he'll see you at the football game tomorrow afternoon for sure.

Parking Lot 'Vigilante' Scravls Tickets Again

Once more we come to that monument of finance . . . the parking ticket.

When the school bell clangs . . . when the familiar racket of fender bending, gear stripping and door slamming start their cacophonous symphony of O.U.'s parking lot . . . Officer "2" will be on the job watching for violations.

A word to the wise, the forgetful, and the indigent . . . the ticket scribbling wonder is hot on your trail. Don't straddle lines on the lot . . . Don't stay 31 minutes in the 30 minute zone . . .

Be happy . . . stay solvent . . . obey the parking rules.

Daniel H. Bates, police chief, Upton, Mass.:

"Too many parents are relying on police to keep their kids straight."

Freshmen Can See . . .

Freshmen men, you may be missing one of the best opportunities in your short college careers.

Hold it! I'm not referring to freshmen women or money growing on trees. I'm being much more serious.

If you haven't signed up for the AF-ROTC program yet, at least go in and talk to an ROTC officer before you make your final decision.

This isn't a recruiting article. I just want you to bear in mind that you can always quit the program if you find you don't like it. But you will never know if you don't know the full story.

And if you're a veteran, bear in mind that you won't have to go on active duty when you graduate, unless there is a truly serious crisis. And then you would have to go back into the service anyway . . . but without the commission.

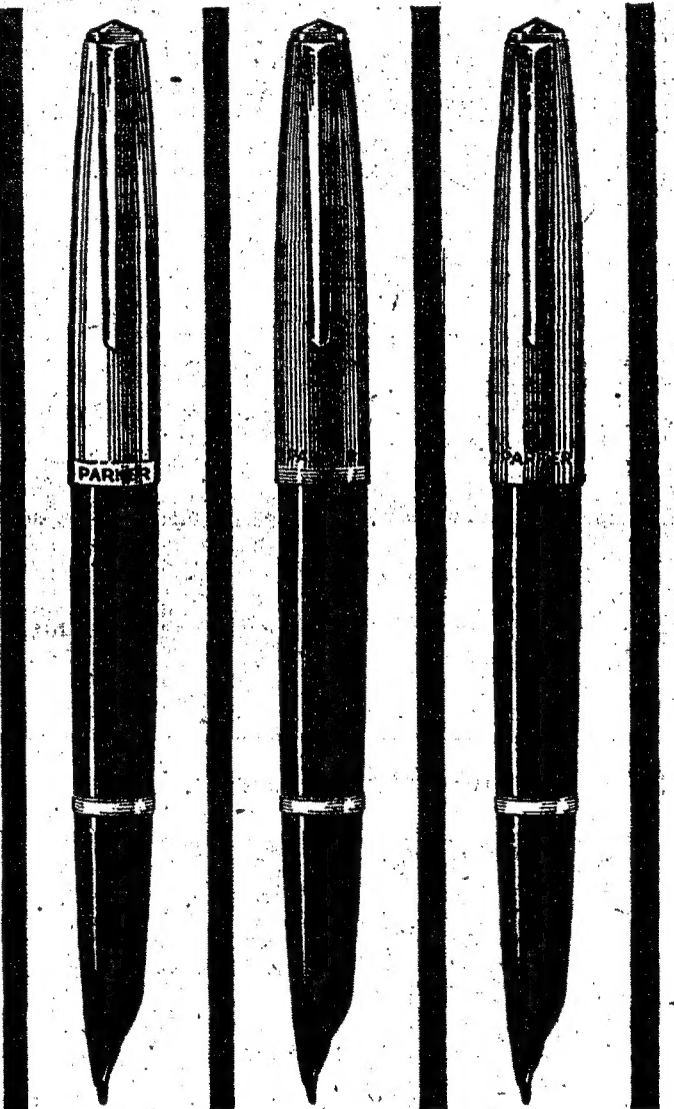

If you have read this far, I don't care whether you agree or disagree with me. Just go in and find out the whole story before you pass up this chance.

Hunters Dive Under Cover—or Almost

Have you ever wondered how those poor little ducks feel with wild buckshot whizzing by their ears?

Three Omaha U marksmen can tell you hunters of this strange experience in a battle which pitted the wits of man against bird.

A hunting Indian trio of "Dead-eye" Don Fitch, "Buckshot" Billy Duffack and "Fearless" Fred Pissale were preparing their blind along the river.

During one of their many rest periods, "Dead-eye" noticed a flock of pelicans (no less) cruising along the horizon. Then came the tragedy. A second wave of the fine feathered friends had sneaked up at tree-top level.

Undoubtedly the leader, a big bird named Pete Pelican, saw the three unarmed huntsmen and a plan for revenge shot through his "bird brain."

When directly over the trio, "Pete" gave the signal and the flock forgot its manners and bombarded the boys with the only thing at their "disposal."

Luckily "Buckshot" Billy had a hat . . .

Moral: put roofs on duck blinds.

Three Players Hurt During Game Conditioning Scrimmage

Three players suffered injuries last Saturday as the Whites downed the Reds, 28-0, in the first and only full game scrimmage for the Omaha U. football team.

Jerry Ziehe and Pete Rigatuso, both halfbacks, suffered badly sprained ankles. Freshman center Jerry Lawson received a slight shoulder separation.

Only Lawson may miss tomorrow's opener against Nebraska Wesleyan.

The Whites scored in all four periods, drawing blood midway in the first on a three-yard buck by Jerry Ziehe. Aksel Schmidt turned near disaster into success by scooping up a bad center on a placement attempt and galloping into the end zone.

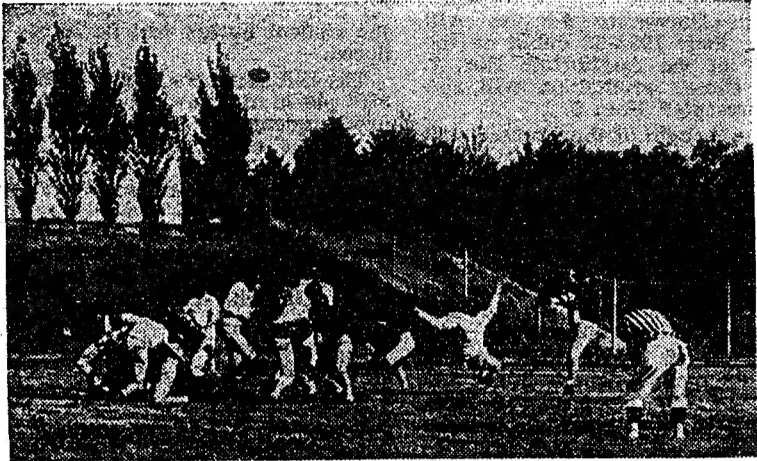

An unusual pass play highlighted the second White tally. Keith Christie pitched to Bob Schropp on the Red five, Schropp juggled the ball, but Tony Roth recovered it in mid-air and rambled over.

Schmidt converted for a 14-0 lead.

A Pete Rigatuso-to-Bob Rose pass from five yards out gave the Whites their third tally.

Jerry Tannahill ran fourteen yards in the fourth period to score, but the play was nullified by a penalty. A few plays later Christie made up for it by scoring from four yards out.

All of the Indian players saw action.

Vogler, Schuchart Take Athletic Jobs

Taking over as the new business manager of athletics for Omaha University is Harvey Vogler, who replaces Dick Frohnen in the Fieldhouse office.

Joining Vogler in the athletic department and assuming the other half of Frohnen's chores is Frank Schuchart, the new athletic publicity director.

Last year Frohnen held down both positions, but chose to take advantage of the new GI Bill and return to school. He has enrolled in classes here at Omaha U.

Although he assisted Frohnen the whole month of August, Vogler officially took over his duties Sept. 1, the day after Frohnen's resignation became effective. Schuchart assumed his position Sept. 9.

Before coming to the West Dodge campus, Vogler served in many non-elected offices in Saunders County. He made his home in Wahoo.

He is married and the father of two daughters. One is in her last year at Omaha U., while the other is in her first year of nurses training.

Schuchart, a junior at the University, assisted Frohnen last year.

Tickets on Sale at Fieldhouse Office

According to Athletic Business Manager Harvey Vogler, plenty of good seats are still available for all of Omaha University's home football games.

Students who have not yet obtained their season books can do so by presenting their activity cards at the ticket office in the Fieldhouse. There is no charge for student tickets.

Tickets are on sale in the Fieldhouse ticket office and at Russell Sporting Goods Store downtown. Prices for non-students are $6 for a season reserved seat and $9 for a season box.

Single game reserved seats are $2 per game. General admission is $1.25.

Columbus, Ohio—Service swimming champions continued their domination of national titles in the national Amateur Athletic Union tower diving competition here.

Jack Calhoun, USN, Milton Davis, USN, Winston Allen, USAF, and Dave Enochs, USAF, took five of the first seven places in the three-day meet.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Takes Sweepstakes

After a nip and tuck battle throughout the 1951-52 school year, Sigma Phi Epsilon tallied enough points in spring athletic contests to capture the Intramural Sweepstakes Trophy.

The trophy is awarded to the intra-mural team that tallies the most points during competition in all sports throughout the school year. The Sig Eps gained enough points by taking second place in softball to nudge Pi Kappa Alpha 1677 1/2-1633 1/2.

Pi Kappa Alpha was the defending champ, having won the trophy during the 1950-51 school year.

But even though Sig Ep won the over-all championships, the Pi Kaps gained revenge by taking first place in the Inter-Fraternity League and winning the Inter-Fraternity Council Trophy.

The IFC Trophy is awarded to the top fraternity team during the school year. Pi Kappa Alpha took first place honors in three of the sports, while Sigma Ep finished first in but two.

This year's intra-mural and Inter-Fraternity league competition is expected to get under way sometime within the next three weeks.

Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin is in charge of the leagues this year.

Touch football will be the first sport on the agenda, with basketball and volleyball coming during the winter months. Track, tennis, golf and softball will round out the competition next spring.

Vogler Searches for Residence in Omaha

Has anyone got a good six or seven room house for sale?

If so, contact Harvey Vogler, the new business manager of athletics for Omaha University. Harvey previously made his home in Wahoo.

Since taking the job at Omaha, he has been commuting from Wahoo daily, while looking for a house in his spare time.

"I'm in for 90 years," said the prisoner to his new cell-mate. "How long are you in for?"

"Seventy-five years," said the newcomer.

"You'll be getting out first," was the reply. "Take the bed nearest the door."

Prospects Uncertain as Indians Prep for First Contest Tomorrow

Cardwell Charges Lack Experience

Lacking in experience in at least three key positions, Omaha University's football fortunes for '52 are as yet very uncertain.

One thing is certain: the Indian eleven this year lacks the overall strength it possessed in 1951. However, in some positions it seems to be stronger than it was last year.

Backs Show Promise

Probably the brightest prospects are in the backfield, with Keith Christie, leading ground gainer and passer last season, heading the list of runners.

A tailback in the single wing in 1951, Keith is being groomed as a quarterback on the "T" formation this year. He will also remain in his post at tailback and signal caller when the team runs from the single wing.

Another back who will probably nail down a starting berth is Aksel Schmidt. A blocking back last season, Schmidt has been switched to fullback and is running well.

Also returning from the '51 team is Jerry Ziehe. Jerry has shown promise as a halfback in early drills. Last season he ran from the fullback slot.

Veteran Ends Return

Bob Schropp, Jerry Tannahill and Joe Moran are listed as probables in the backfield, along with Pete Rigatuso. All four are halfbacks who have shown promise as top-notch break-away runners.

Jerry Welling is developing rapidly as an understudy to Christie. Although not an exceptional runner, Jerry is a good passer and punter.

Returning to bolster the Indians at ends are veterans Don Maseman and Bob Rose. Both are showing rapid improvement and should develop as the season progresses.

Another leading candidate at end is Tony Roth. Roth, a rookie, is also proficient as an extra point kicker.

At the tackles, Harry Johnson, Bob Jackson and Bob Polce are battling for starting berths. Jackson and Polce are freshmen. Johnson played one year at Midland college.

Johnson Returns

Don Hopkins and Jim Spencer have returned at guards and should give the Indian line some needed experience.

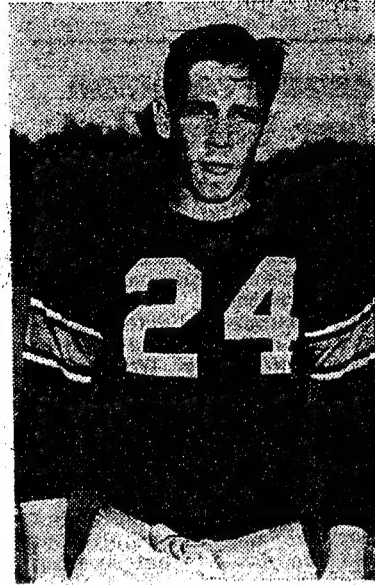

Other guard candidates who have displayed ability are Dick Edgerton, Beverly Garcia, Arnold Smith and Clarence Sage. All four are freshmen.

At center, team captain Larry Johnson is back for the third year as regular pivot man. Johnson is due for near 60 minute service this season, playing both offense and defense.

Backing up Johnson in the center corps are freshman Jerry Lawson and Tom Morse. Lawson suffered a slight shoulder separation in last Saturday's intra-squad game, but should be ready to play against Nebraska Wesleyan.

All in the Game:

LAST YEAR Country Slaughter was marked off the books as washed up, but he's doing all right for a has-been—hitting better than .300 and starting on his second 1000-run-batted-in . . . They say the reason Ralph Kiner's home run production has dropped off this year is that he's been playing too much tennis with his wife, tennis star Nancy Chaffee . . . The Pirates of 1952 are considered by experts to be the worst team to appear in the major leagues in a decade . . . Baseball men don't remember a year when as many batters have gone on "0 for 20" streaks as have this year . . . World master in contract bridge is Sidney Siloder, Philadelphia, says the American Contract Bridge League . . . The Dodgers and the Braves battled to a 24-inning, 1-1 tie game on May 1, 1920 . . . Harry Stovey of the Athletics stole 130 bases in 100 games in 1888 . . . Joe Di Maggio played in 10 world series with the Yankees . . . Largest black bear caught by red and reel weighed 22 lbs. 4 oz.

Yelkin Again Takes Office In Athletics

After a one year leave of absence Virgil Yelkin is returning this year to serve as athletic director for the University of Omaha.

Yelkin served as a major in the army until he was released during the summer. Besides taking over as athletic director, he will resume his previous chores as head baseball coach and assume new duties as head basketball coach.

In returning to the University, Yelkin relieves Tom Brock, who served as interim athletic director. Brock has assumed a new post as head of the Physical Education Department.

Yelkin agreed to take the reins as basketball coach to fill the vacancy left when Don Pfisterer was moved up to Assistant Dean of Student Affairs.

Coming to the University in 1946, Yelkin headed a building program at Omaha that saw the construction of the stadium and fieldhouse.

Prior to World War II, he served as a high school coach for five years at South Sioux City, Norfolk and Fremont. He had conference championship teams all five years.

At college Yelkin was an outstanding athlete. He played end on the Nebraska University football teams of 1934, '35 and '36.

In 1936 he was named to the Kansas City Star All-Big Six team and won Honorable Mention All-American honors.

Nine Games Face OU Gridiron Team

A nine game schedule faces Omaha University footballers, including four home contests and five road trips.

The Indians open here tomorrow afternoon against Nebraska Wesleyan. One week from tomorrow, Sept. 27, Coach Lloyd Cardwell will take his team to Sioux City, Iowa, for a game with Morningside.

On the following Saturday, the Omaha eleven returns to the home stadium to meet Washburn University. After the Washburn clash, the Redmen are due to hit the road for games with South Dakota University at Vermillion, Oct. 11, and Emporia State Teachers of Emporia, Kansas, Oct. 18.

Oct. 25 Knox College of Illinois will be the guest in the Omaha Stadium.

Another two game road trip faces the Indians with Northern Illinois State furnishing the opposition at DeKalb, Nov. 1, and Missouri Central College playing host at Fayette, Nov. 7.

Doane College will be the opponent in Omaha, Nov. 15, in the season finale.

Wesleyan Invades For Curtain Raiser

Coach Lloyd Cardwell will unveil his 1952 Omaha University football team tomorrow afternoon when he sends the Indian eleven into action against traditional rival Nebraska Wesleyan in the Omaha Stadium, at 2 p. m.

The Redmen will be gunning for their fifth straight triumph over the Plainsmen in as many years. Last season Omaha won a 25-0 decision at Lincoln.

However, Wesleyan is rated its best chance in several years to overhaul the Indian squad and break the long OU jinx.

Both Lack Experience

Although both teams are lacking in experienced veterans, Wesleyan is slated to field the stronger squad. In their opening game last Saturday, Coach Roy Robertson's squad scored a surprising upset over Buena Vista, 27-19.

In pre-season predictions Buena Vista was rated to have its strongest team in several seasons.

The Plainsmen employ a split "T" formation running and passing attack. They have several talented backs, including Rod Washington, ex-Omaha high school speedster. Several are top-notch break-away runners.

Halfback Wesley Hultquist is the big gun in the Wesleyan attack. Hultquist ranks as an exceptional runner and passer and also does most of the punting and extra point kicking for the Plainsmen.

In the game with Buena Vista, he made all three conversions, passed for one touchdown and had a 43-yard punting average.

Two Veterans Return

Just how good Omaha University's team will be this year is still a question. Much of the load is going to be in the hands of newcomers to the team and freshman prospects.

In the line only two of last year's veteran guards have returned for duty and there are no experienced hands at tackle. Don Hopkins and Jim Spencer are the returning guards with only Hopkins due to see extensive service Saturday.

Spencer checked out equipment Monday and is not yet in top condition.

Freshmen Vie for Berths

Freshman candidates Bob Jackson, Bob Polce and Harry Johnson, the latter an ex-Midland College footballer, seem to be the top prospects for the starting berth.

Veteran ends Don Maseman and Bob Rose, along with center Larry Johnson, who is returning for his third year at the pivot spot, will carry much of the load in the line against Wesleyan.

Any one of a number of Indian backfield hopefuls could spell trouble for the Wesleyan eleven. Led by last year's leading ground gainer, Keith Christie, the backfield corps could carry the secret to an Omaha victory tomorrow.

Cheerleaders To Hold Tryouts Next Friday

Tryouts for this year's cheerleading squad will be held one week from today, Sept. 26, at 3 p. m., in Room 386.

All women and men students who would like to serve on the squad are invited to try out. Several of last year's team members were lost through graduation.

It is hoped that a complete squad can be formed before the second home football game Oct. 4. Until then returning members of the 1951-52 cheerleading squad will lead Indian cheers.

Returning members, who will compose the team for tomorrow's game, include Alyce Beachler, Jane Engelhardt, Jean Madden, Janet Langhammer and Sally Westin.

All Sororities Reach End of Rush Season

Sorority rushing officially got underway at the formal tea, Sunday, Sept. 7, at the University and closed with the signing of preference cards Sept. 12.

Informal parties were scheduled from Sept. 8 to 11.

Alpha Zeta

Alpha Zeta Deltas held their five rush parties at Hanscom Park Pavilion.

Twenty-five girls were formally pledged Monday evening, Sept. 15, at the Omaha Athletic Club. Dinner preceded pledging in the main dining room. Sally Urban served as rush chairman.

Special guests included Mrs. Louise Sutton, pledge advisor; Miss Evelyn Schellak, membership advisor; Mrs. Dorothy Ripper, social chairman; Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, scholarship chairman; and Miss Mildred Sheldon, president of the Omaha Alumni.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega headquarters held their informal rush parties at the Elmwood Park Pavilion. Omaha Country Club was the scene of the Sunday evening pledge banquet. After welcoming speeches by Joanne Larkin, president, and Miss Margaret Killian, advisor, Miss Mildred Hollingsworth presented Rusty Smith, rush chairman, with a gift of appreciation for her fine job.

Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa's had their headquarters for informal rush parties at Fontenelle Park Pavilion. Their formal pledge banquet was held Monday evening at the Blackstone Hotel. Pat Johansson was toastmistress and Bonnie Voss, province president, gave the opening address. Dorothy Ehlers and Marjorie Jones served as rushing co-chairmen. During the banquet, pledge mistress, Jody Pierce, spoke to the new pledges on the pledge duties during the year.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha's informal rush parties were held at Dewey Park Pavilion. The formal pledge banquet was held Tuesday evening at the Omaha Athletic Club where 27 girls were pledged. Jean Saladay was Toastmistress. Anita Rezinchek gave the opening speech.

Students Suggest Afternoon Dance At Earlier Hour

At the beginning of the semester, the Gateway decided to take a poll of a few students to see how they felt about the afternoon student dances. These dances are sponsored by the student council. The poll is not meant to completely abandon the dances, but last year some discussion arose about the time of the dance.

This is what a few students had to say:

Dorothy Seig—Yes, I enjoy the Student Council afternoon dances, but I feel that because of the late afternoon hour too many students are unable to attend.

Don Bucknan—I like the afternoon dances and hope to see them continue but I do wish they were a little earlier in the day.

Florence Izenstat—I think they are too late because a lot of students work in the afternoon and they could probably go to them if they were earlier.

Phi Eps Take Award For Religious Work

The national A. L. Sacher award for outstanding religious service to the community was awarded to the local Alpha Chi chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity at a recent convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

The award was won by competition with 36 other chapters. OU Phi Eps attending the convention were Hugo Kahn and Maynard Tatelman.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega started regular school activities Wednesday evening at their first meeting. The new pledges selected their sorority mothers and elected pledge officers. They are Jean Bednar, president; Rae Johnson, secretary, and Shirley Kurtz, treasurer.

The group made plans for a football picnic with Sigma Phi Epsilon on October 4 after the OU football game. Initiation for six pledges will be Sunday, Sept. 28, at Joan Thorson's home.

Fraternities End Rushing For Fall Term

Fraternity Rush Week officially ends today after five days of parties and "shack rushing" for the 127 rushees.

"Silent Day" will be observed from 10 this morning until 1 p. m. Monday. During this time fraternity members are not permitted to rush prospective pledges.

Preference Day is Monday from 8 to 11 a. m. Rushees wishing to pledge a fraternity must file their preference with the Dean of Students office during this time.

Each fraternity held three parties during the week inviting about 40 men to each party. The parties were scheduled so that each rushee could attend each of the five fraternities' parties.

The Fraternity Smoker officially opened Rush Week last Friday night. Men registered for rushing were welcomed by Dean of Students MacGregor and Assistant Dean Pflasterer, met members of each of the fraternities, and were served refreshments in the Student Center.

Howard Olson, president of the Inter-fraternity Council, believes that "besides being the largest group of men ever out for rushing, this is one of the best groups out in four years."

"The Inter-fraternity Council is striving to build numbers in fraternities in respect to the growing school," said Merlyn Fratt, Council member.

Annual Freshman Mixer Scheduled

The annual Freshman Day Mixer will be held Friday, Sept. 26, from 4 to 6 p. m. in the Auditorium. The typical freshman boy and girl will be announced during intermission. All students are invited to attend.

All Freshman candidates' names must be submitted to the Dean of Students office by Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 12 noon. Voting will take place in the checkroom from 12 to 4 on Sept. 26. Only freshmen are allowed to vote with the men voting for the women and vice-versa.

All freshman class women and Senior class men are required to attend the dance. Refreshments will be served during the dance.

Picnic Ends Rushing

Alpha Xi Delta closed its rush week activities with a picnic for actives and new pledges Saturday, Sept. 13. Fifty-seven girls attended the get-acquainted affair at the D. W. Campbell home.

Informal games, picnic supper, and song fest rounded out the evening's activities.

Fashion Magazine Effect Apparent In Coed Dress

By Lorrie Lemen

This fall the co-eds on the Omaha University campus look like they have walked out of fashion magazines. Although the warm weather has kept the girls in their summer frocks, the coming of fall has brought out the familiar sweaters and skirts.

Today while sitting in the Student Center, the society editor noticed many cool and comfortable summer outfits. The new style of the cotton middy was seen worn by Betty Lou Bereton. The middy was blue and red striped worn with a navy blue linen gabardine skirt. Many golfers in bright plaids and subdued colors were seen and the familiar full dirndl skirts and cool sleeveless blouses. An outfit such as this was seen in pale blue and black worn by Cynthia Judd.

Sweaters and skirts and fall colors again this fall seem to be the favorite on our campus. This combination was seen worn by Joan Willey with a navy blue sweater and navy blue and green plaid wool skirt. The combination was touched off with a white pique collar. The popular white buck shoes are again a favorite this fall, and Miss Willey completed her outfit with the white bucks so many co-eds favor.

In the accessory department the wide belts and neck scarfs along with large ear-rings, pendants and pins are the fad this fall. Paisley print is The Thing in the way of material. Paisley is used in scarfs, belts and even in the linings of coats and jackets. Paisley blouses have also been seen to match their suits.

Grey flannel is again a popular material in co-eds' skirts and suits. One freshman, Marlene Hoffmann, wears a grey flannel skirt with white cotton blouse and red tie. To complete her outfit, she wears a wide black leather belt.

Jersey blouses are in the news again this year. Pat Vorel wears a light green and navy blue jersey blouse with rolled turtle neck. Pat wears a navy blue gabardine skirt to complete her outfit.

The Gateway intends to keep you posted on all the latest fashions around the OU campus this fall.

ISA's Smooth Plans For Regional Conference

Social Notes

The beginning of school marks the beginning of a busy social season for members of the OU student body.

The first break in the routine of classes is Freshman Day, set for Sept. 26. On this day the timid ones reign supreme, for the first and probably the last time during their first year.

The traditional Founders' Day Convocation will be Oct. 6.

For the Greeks, the annual Pledge Dance is scheduled for Peony Park Oct. 31. The first big dance of the season for the Greeks, it is an informal affair.

The University Players will make their 1952-53 debut on the stage of the Auditorium Nov. 7. The chosen production will also be presented Nov. 8.

The thought of the Homecoming Dance and Homecoming Game should be enough to cheer most students through the dark days of mid-terms. The high point of the football season will be Nov. 15 when the Indians meet Doane College. The dance, scheduled for Nov. 14 at Peony Park, will climax a busy day on campus.

The next bright spot on the student social calendar is the advent of the Thanksgiving holidays Nov. 26. Classes will resume Dec. 1.

The Sophomore Cotillion at Peony Park Dec. 12 will wind up the social activities for the majority of the students for the first semester. The dance precedes the three-week Christmas vacation.

The social calendars for the Greek organizations have not yet been announced.

Walter J. Donnelly, new U. S. High Commissioner in West Germany: "Standing together and working together, we of the free world can assure our peoples of a future in peace and security."

Stan Dreyer, the regional president of the Independent Students Association, visited Omaha on September 1. He discussed plans for the Regional Convention with local ISA members.

Stan, a senior at the University of Colorado, stopped in Omaha on his way home from an Associated Student Government convention held at the University of Indiana.

The nine-state regional conference of Independent Students Association will be held at the University of Omaha on Oct. 10, 11, and 12. Local members have been working on plans this summer for a worthwhile conference.

On the entertainment side, an "Indian Chow" and a square dance has been planned at Riverview Park on Friday night. An all school dance has been arranged for Saturday night at which time the student nurses will be introduced.

The ISA members held a "kick-off" picnic at Elmwood Park for new students at the University of Omaha on Sunday, Sept. 14. A lazy man's tour of the building featured a trip to the top of the roof of the University.

Persons wishing to join ISA may pay dues at the ISA information desk in front of the registrar's office the latter part of the week.

Alum Directors Honor McGregor

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association honored Dr. Jay B. MacGregor and other new faculty members at a reception Wednesday evening. Administrative and department heads were invited to the informal affair held in the faculty club room.

Dean MacGregor, who came to the University from Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Ia., assumed his duties as dean of students when the new semester opened. He replaces Dean John Lucas, head of the new College of Business Administration.
